QUAKE WIPES OUT BULGARIA TOWNS

HUNDREDS DEAD, 500,000 HOMELESS, PANIC FOLLOWS WORST SHOCK IN HISTORY

(Special Cable to Universal Service)

LONDON, April 20.—A new series of violent earthquake shocks swept over Bulgaria today in a wave of death and destruction.

The town of Philippopolis, where 15 were killed Wednesday night was completely destroyed today, and five smaller villages wiped out by a series of shocks.

Hundreds are believed dead and more than 500,000 are homeless, said dispatches from Vienna tonight to the Daily Express. In Philippopolis 120 bodies had been recovered in the first few hours. The present series of earthquakes are the most disastrous in Europe's history.

Horner was chosen Imperial representative in the place of illustrious Potentate Ezra Decker, who owing to pressing business of the state railroad commission, is prevented from attending the conference.

The delegation which includes Past Potentates George Meredith, F. R. Haley and Herbert W. Whitworth, accompanied by R. Abernethy, recorder of Ashkenas, will leave Sunday night for the convention. En route, they will visit the Grand Canyon, Houston, New Orleans, Jacksonville, before the conference meets. They expect to be gone three weeks.

Y. Groups Plan Annual Camp

Friendly Indians and Pioneer clubs of the Y. M. C. A. met last night with 125 boys between the ages of 9 and 15 years present. Plans for the annual camp to be held on the Russian river June 11 to 23 were discussed.

Games were enjoyed, after which the members enjoyed a motion picture show upstairs.

Leaders of the various groups are Marion Snodgrass, Reid Bullock, Harry Carpenter, Don Seawright, Frank Felix and John Duarte. A tentative schedule for a basketball schedule for next month was worked out. The Friendly Indians will have the use of the floor on Wednesday afternoon and the Pioneers on Wednesday nights.

Clubs represented last night were the Kit Carson, Abe Lincoln, Platos and Shawnee Pioneer clubs, and the Apache Friendly Indians.

An archery range has been installed at the rear of the Y building and the members are taking up this line of sport. Arrows are being made and a number of bows have been started.

There will be an initiation of 16 new members into the Hi-Y club next Tuesday night.

Plane Designed By El Cerritan Gets Attention

A. G. Tisdale, superintendent of the Mahoney Aircraft corporation, San Diego, builders of Colonel Lindbergh's "Spirit of St. Louis" has taken an interest in a mid-motor monoplane designed by Socrates H. Capells of El Cerrito.

The craft has many radical departures from the orthodox plane, and is intended to float and propel itself on water and to take off vertically from water, land or roof.

Tisdale has advised Capells to have a scale model constructed for wind tunnel tests at Berkeley, or at McCook field Dayton, Ohio, in order to prove the practicability of the plane.

Capells plans construction of a model soon.

RUM STILLERS USED RAILWAY

Specially constructed railroad tank cars, similar to those used in the transportation of oil products, were used by the operators of the mammoth Bethel Island alcohol plant in shipping in via Brentwood the syrup used in the distilling of pure alcohol of exceptional high proof.

The plant, largest in capacity and most complete and scientifically constructed, at a cost of many thousands of dollars, ever discovered in Contra Costa county was producing alcohol, said by the authorities after chemical test to be pure and suitable for safe human consumption after being "cut" four or five times. The daily capacity of the 700-gallon double still is not known, but over 300 gallons of alcohol were confiscated as were several hundred new five-gallon cans in which the authorities believe the alcohol was shipped away by truck.

Authorities are investigating what they believe to have been the procedure of the owners of the plant in shipping the syrup in tank cars to Brentwood and there transporting it via truck to Bethel Island where the plant was operated in an old camouflaged barn on the Hotchkiss ranch, far from other habitation.

PROPOSED BAY BRIDGE MEETS NEW ATTACK

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Action by Senator Hiram Johnson, Republican of California, to secure unanimous consent of the Senate in approving the San Francisco Bay bridge was thwarted today when Senator Odell, Republican of Nebraska, interposed objection. "I am rather astonished at the Senator's position," declared Johnson, pointing out that the measure had been unanimously reported favorably by the commerce committee. He added that he will press for early consideration of the measure.

Senator Ashurst, Republican of Arizona, bitter opponent of Johnson on the Boulder Dam bill, interposed to say that while he was against the California on "a well known bill" he was hearing with him on this matter and hoped it would pass.

Johnson in presenting the committee's report on the bill stressed the vital need of San Francisco to place in service the bridge which will connect San Francisco via Rincon Hill and the Alameda mole with her sister cities across the bay.

Both Parties Are At Fault Alstrom Says

In the trial in the justice court yesterday of the case of Roma Locke against F. H. Wilkins for damages done to an automobile in a collision, Justice Alstrom, after the taking of testimony, announced he had his decision prepared, and read a typewritten statement, in which he held that both parties were at fault.

About a week ago Mrs. Locke was driving west on Roosevelt avenue, and when she reached Twenty eighth street, she was crashed into by Wilkins, who was driving south on Twenty eighth.

Wilkins apparently was going at a fast speed, as after he struck the Locke car he crossed the street, jumped the sidewalk and was in the middle of the field before he was able to bring his car to a stop.

FORD RESCUE PLANE ON WAY TO GREENEY ISLE

MURRY BAY, Quebec, April 20.—The Ford rescue plane will carry fuel and repair parts to the transatlantic monoplane Bremen made a landing at Lake St. Agnes 15 miles from here, shortly before 3 o'clock this afternoon. It will resume the flight to Greeney Island where the Bremen is stranded sometime tomorrow morning.

The Ford piloted by Bert Balchen and Floyd Bennett, hopped off from Detroit at 7 o'clock this morning, carrying as passengers Thomas Mulroy of New York, representing Mayor James J. Walker of New York and J. V. Murphy, a newspaperman.

At Lake St. Agnes, which affords the only safe landing field in this vicinity, the wheels of the landing gear will be removed and skids substituted for the landing on Greeney Island. Four hundred gallons of gasoline, a new undercarriage, a propeller and tools for repairing the Bremen already have been assembled here for loading on the rescue plane.

Just who will make the flight to Greeney Island has not yet definitely been determined. Major F. M. Maurice, who flew in the Bremen from Dublin to Greeney, will go with the Balchen and Bennett. It is also likely that Murphy will also go.

McKinley's Niece Named In Suit

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., April 20.—Charges that Mabel McKinley Baer, niece of the late President William McKinley, is "an habitual drinker" were made by Edith Hill Buler, today in an answer filed to a suit for alienation of affections.

The answer also alleges that on one occasion in 1927 "on the return of the husband to his home at a late hour of the night she (Mrs. Baer) was found by the husband sleeping in the same bedroom with a young man whom she claimed to have adopted."

He is in jail in lieu of $2000 bail.

FINAL PLANS LAID FOR ERECTION OF $3,000,000 SPAN

Contra Costa and Solano are to have a second toll bridge across the Carquinez straits.

It will be built by the Carquinez Toll Bridge company, a corporation recently organized under the laws of Nevada. The application for the permit will go before the supervisors on Monday, June 4.

The company is headed by Dr. Otto Freyermuth of San Francisco, and a group of capitalists, who have the entire project financed, and ready to go ahead with the big structure as soon as the permit is granted.

Notices are now being published in papers in this county and Solano giving notice of the intention to apply for the permit.

With this second bridge across the straits every means of access to this county from all parts of the state will be provided. It is generally conceded that the more main arteries there are provided the more traffic increases.

The new bridge will be of the suspension type, and the plans have been drawn by Robert Cowt, 35 of New York, one of the most noted engineers of the country. It will cost about $3,000,000.

Attorney Wilbur S. Pierce, of Oakland, the attorney for the corporation last evening in speaking of the new bridge said:

"The people whom I represent are sincere in their desire to give the people of the state and I use the word 'state' because the great majority of the travel would originate outside of the two counties with which the bridge will be connected, a new means of travel at a much lower cost."

"The bridge will be 3200 feet in length, and the piers on either side will be close to the land, so that there will be no blocking of the stream in any manner. The center span will be 2400 feet in length, so that you can readily see the two piers will be close to the shores. It will be of a suspension type, rather than a cantilever type, as the engineer has advised this as the safest type of construction."

"The floor of the structure will be 150 feet above high tide, and when you consider the length of the bridge, I am able to say, when completed and open for traffic that the fares will be almost fifty per cent less than is now being charged."

"The roadway of the bridge will be forty-five feet in width, fifteen feet greater than present bridges. The structure will leave the north shore at Dillons Point and end on the south shore near Eckley. The company owns the land on both sides of the stream, and already has expended large sums of money in engineering. This is the shortest route across the structure and the natural location for a bridge."

WHERE CAN IT BE DONE?

It's asked every day. You ask it. The wife asks it. Even the children ask it. Consciously or subconsciously, it pops up in everybody's mind the minute some need arises. That need may be repairing, we want done. It may be wondering how to get certain work off our hands. Yes, it may be trying to find a way out of a hundred different problems that come up for our personal decision from day to day. Fortunately for us, there ARE folks that give us the Service we want—who cater to our slightest wish! But who are they? That's what you and everybody else wants to know—and quite often on the spur of the moment! And that's when you appreciate having the BUYERS GUIDE for handy reference published EVERY DAY on the "Classified" section of the Record-Herald. Where can it be done? Who will do it? The ads in the Buyers Guide give you an answer in a flash.

HIGH COURT ENTERS BAY SPAN FIGHT

The State Supreme Court was yesterday injected into the battle over the right to build a bridge from the shore of Contra Costa county to Marin county. Roy O. Long and the Board of Supervisors of this county yesterday filed suit in the Supreme Court in San Francisco against Superior Judge A. B. McKenzie of Contra Costa county for dismissal of a writ of mandate issued by him.

Postponement until May 7 of the hearing on the writ of prohibition secured by Charles Van Damme, preventing the Contra Costa county board of supervisors from granting a franchise to Roy O. Long of Berkeley for a $15,000,000.00 bridge joining Contra Costa and Marin county, was announced yesterday. The hearing had been scheduled for today with Superior Judge A. B. McKenzie, now in Los Angeles, slated to return here to listen to arguments. The postponement is the second to be ordered since Van Damme's petition was filed three weeks ago.

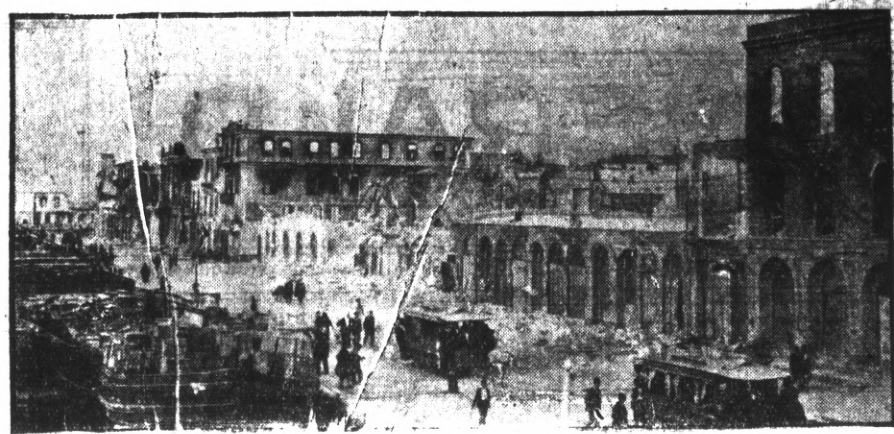

Van Damme, president of the Richmond-San Rafael Ferry company and loser in franchise competition with Long before the supervisors, seeks to ban a franchise grant to Long in this proceeding and in another is seeking to force the board of supervisors to grant him a franchise. Judge McKenzie has already directed the supervisors to reopen the bridge hearing and give Van Damme first franchise choice.

OPIUM PIPES USED OPENLY BY CHINESE

(By Universal Service)

PEKING, April 20.—The American smokes his cigarette while his Chinese fellow passenger enjoys his opium pipe on the Blue Express, most famous of Chinese trains. Presumably opium smoking is a crime, but when the smoker is in military uniform he seemingly is permitted to smoke when and as openly as he chooses. American travelers on the Blue Express are taken back when they first see a servant bring the Chinese officer his opium pipe and tray with lamp over which the small pellets of opium are heated before being dropped into the pipe's bowl.

Stickish Order
More hardened foreigners used to the ways of Chinese, give a thought to this smoking of opium on the important trains only when the stickish sweet order begins to become annoying. Some even complain to the car porter, who, of course, immediately explains that he is powerless to stop the militarist in his smoke. It is not only in the permitting of opium smoking that the Blue Express has deteriorated. Built to run between Peking and Pukow on the Shanghai line, five all-steel, beautifully equipped trains made by an American firm were put into service five years ago. Today less than two complete trains can be assembled in one spot and they are in a sorrowful condition.

Pieces of the go service as door handles while toilets are completely out of order. Locomotives are started in the short run, for the Blue Express now operates between Tientsin and Tishan only when the engineer well knows that they cannot go the full distance. Punished By Soldiers
However, he fears punishment at the hands of the military unless he starts and the result is a breakdown along the line with as much as a thirty-six hour wait for the stranded passengers on this express train.

ALL-ONE CLUB HOLDS LUNCHEON AND WHIST

The All-One club met at the home of Mrs. Eleanor Perry, 339 South Twenty-fourth street yesterday afternoon. A delightful luncheon was served, after which whist was enjoyed. ## QUEEN VICTORIA LIVES IN STYLES

"Designers are discussing the striking resemblance of the new spring fashions to the late eighties, when Queen Victoria lived. Paris went back to ruffled frocks to bows, to full skirts covering the knees, to English garden prints in February collections. The American women soon followed suit. Coats and capes lined with silk fabric, printed taffeta, rayon voile yokes and buckles, skirts in sections flaring below knees, suggested over-skirts, all are in the modern picture.

"Nothing is more decided than new ones must be made, yet Paris goes to old ideas for inspiration. The shirred shoulder belongs to the McKinley period. The ruffle on the skirt hem belongs to the late Rooseveltian period. The upward swaying evening frock is of Goya's day. It is a Spanish tradition come to life. The horse yoke collar is of pre-war days."

YOUNG STARS FEATURE FILM AT CALIFORNIA

Fox Films comedy drama, "High School Hero" which opened at the California theatre yesterday brings to the screen not only a new director but a group of youthful players as well who promise to be among those in the front ranks of their art in a short time.

In fact never before have there been seen so many new faces in a picture and all with such unusual ability to portray the roles in which they are cast. David Butler deserves great credit not only for his able direction but for his ability in selecting such a remarkable cast made up principally of youngsters. There is Sally Phipps, wholly charming, apparently still in her teens and a splendid comedienne. Nick Stuart who scored his first success as the college boy sheik in "Cradle Snatchers" improves over his former performance as one of the "boy friends" to the dainty heroine as played by Miss Phipps. Then there is John Darrow, another "boy friend" and Charles Paddock, famous sprinter in the role of coach to the basketball team while Brandon Hurst is the latin teacher. All give a performance that is highly diverting and that proved a real treat to those who witnessed the premiere of this production.

Director Butler adhered strictly to the spirit of his subject and gives a vivid picture of the typical American high school with all its activities, humors, boy and girl delves an athletic activities. Decidedly a photoplay worth seeing. Other features include "Catalina Here I Come", a Mack Sennett comedy; Will Rogers in "France"; and current news events.

INNOCENT MAN CHARGED WITH PAL'S DEATH

Two men, life-long friends, are in a room alone. One is murdered by a mysterious shot. A smoking revolver is found on the floor. The other man is unable to say where the shot came from. Circumstantial evidence convicts him of the murder and he is sentenced to die, an innocent man.

That is the whirlwind start of the sensational plot of "Held By the Law," the murder-mystery picture now thrilling patrons of the Richmond theatre here and if it fails to entertain you consult a psychiatrist.

"Held by the Law" came from the gifted pen of Bayard Veiller, whose "The Thirteenth Chair" was one of the biggest stage hits in years, and whose first picture "Within the Law" produced almost five years ago, is still being shown.

The large cast does exceptional work throughout. Marguerite de la Motte and Johnnie Walker play the leading roles. Ralph Lewis is splendid as the innocent man caught in the net of circumstantial evidence. Robert Ober, E. H. Ratcliffe, Fred Kenney, Maude Wayne and others play prominent supporting roles.

Other features include the fifth chapter of "Heroes of the Wild," starring Jack Hoxie; and Felix the Cat in "Japanicky."

Red Cross Completes Flood Relief On Anniversary of Great Disaster

A year ago hundreds of boats, similar to the one in this picture, were plying up and down the great flood area to rescue 300,000 persons clinging to house tops and levees and transport them to refuge camps like in the upper corner. The picture in the lower corner shows the town of Columbus, Kentucky, after the Red Cross had moved it a half mile to bluffs above the river to save it from complete destruction.

MOVING an entire town, excavating another town from beneath ten feet of mud, and rebuilding thousands of destroyed homes, are some of the accomplishments of the American Red Cross being cited as the organization brought to a virtual close its huge flood reconstruction program in the Mississippi Valley.

The practical completion of the work came exactly one year after the disaster reached the size of a national calamity, during which time the Red Cross expended a relief fund of $17,000,000, with the exception of a small remaining balance to be used for the completion of special relief projects in the counties hardest hit.

Unique among the tasks facing the relief organization as it began the reconstruction of the 20,000 square mile area was the necessity for moving the town of Columbus, Kentucky, a half mile from its old site to the bluffs above the river. The corrosive action of the water was fast destroying the entire community. At Louisville, Louisiana, mud covered the community to a depth of from six to ten feet when the flood waters receded, necessitating extensive excavating before normal reconstruction activities could begin.

The Red Cross gave reconstruction aid to 550,000 persons in its year's relief program, consisting of help in rebuilding or repairing homes, procuring household goods, clothing, live stock and poultry, feed, seed, farm implements, and food and medical care for families until they could resume their obligation for themselves.

Looming largest in the items of expenditures for these purposes were $5,000,000 for food; $2,250,000 for seed; $2,250,000 for feed for stock; $1,750,000 for building and repairs; $750,000 for household furnishings; and $300,000 for live stock and poultry.

Help was given farmers in replanting crops last Summer and Fall, and again this Spring. More than 1,600,000 acres of land have been replanted with seed supplied by the Red Cross.

Louisiana, Mississippi, and Arkansas, required the heaviest expenditures of relief funds, with $5,500,000 in Louisiana, $3,350,000 in Mississippi, and $4,000,000 in Arkansas. The remainder was spent in the States of Tennessee, Kentucky, Missouri, Illinois, and Oklahoma.

The close of relief operations in the Mississippi Valley will see the completion of the greatest peace time emergency the Red Cross has faced since its inception. In the emergency period, more than 300,000 persons were rescued from house tops and levees and transported to 143 refuge camps, where they were fed, clothed and sheltered until they could return to their homes. The population of these camps was further augmented by an equal number of persons who straggled in as the waters took possession of their homes, until there were 607,000 refugees under the organization's care. More than 1,500,000 meals a day were supplied for several months.

Reconstruction, rather than emergency relief, as spectacular and dramatic as it was, is looked upon as the organization's greatest accomplishment. In the brief period of a year conditions approximating the normal have been restored and the flood sufferers placed in a self-supporting position.

RAGS WANTED

Copyright 1927, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.
"POWDER MY BACK," starring Irene Rich, is a Warner Bros. picture.

SYNOPSIS

CHAPTER XV—Continued

She kept glancing at the clock uneasily, watching the minutes sometimes crawl by, sometimes fly. They crawled when she felt that the sooner she got this episode over with, the better; they flew when she thought of what was about to happen to a very dear boy with dark, compelling eyes. She jumped nervously when the door-bell rang and almost flew to open the door herself. But she restrained her impulse and waited impatiently until Renee entered the room and went out to the little reception hall to let in the caller.

Almost simultaneously with her thoughts, Harry appeared in the room and was clasping her hands and kissing them madly. His face looked slightly worried, she thought, and she knew that it was because he had been talking to George.

"My God! You don't mean that."

"Adele, darling," Harry looked at her with tender, loving eyes. "How beautiful you look. I've never seen you so lovely before."

"No," Adele quirked her mouth into one of her funny little smiles that seemed to say: "It's all in fun, isn't it?"

"What have you been doing today?" Harry questioned, looking about the room. "Anything interesting or exciting?"

"Not a thing," Adele lied magnificently. "I had a most quiet morning, and just dressed a little while ago. Have you been writing?"

"O, some," Harry edged about the question. "Mostly, I was just thinking, and wondering."

"About what?" Adele fitted a cigarette into a slender onyx holder and held it out for Harry to light for her.

"About you, sweetheart—what else could I think of?" Harry lighted the cigarette. "Don't you know that I never have anything else—ever—to think about. O, Adele, I'm simply mad about you. You do love me—just a little—don't you?"

He caught her to him and showed tender kisses upon her mouth, her eyes, her cheeks.

For a moment Adele was lost in the happiness of his caresses. But she remembered her part, and loath to play it as she was, she began to pull herself away from Harry, laughing cynically.

"O, don't be such a silly, little thing," Harry said almost peevishly. She smoothed her hair, and went over and quite obviously, before a mirror, rearranged the disturbed locks.

For a moment Harry paused, secretly knowing what to make of her words and her actions. And yet, there she was, calmly puffing on that damned cigarette as though she didn't care anything at all about him. And still she showed that beauty of her, the flash of the red fringe that just suggested the movements of her body, seemed so alluring—and somehow, in a way, not exactly like her. She had never seemed quite so strange and aloof, for all her loveliness, as she did today.

"What's the matter, Adele?" Harry came and stood beside her, trying to look into the eyes that eluded him. "Have I done something? Please tell me—what is it?"

Adele bit the holder of her cigarette.

ette. Then she blew a cloud of smoke and watched it rise and lose itself against the ceiling. "You were amusing for a while, Harry," she laughed cruelly. "I might as well tell you that I'm tired of the whole game. I'm through with it—I'm sorry, but that's the story."

"Adele! O, Adele! My God! You don't mean that! Please say you don't mean it." He grasped her wrists tightly, and held her prisoner before him. "I don't understand at all. You can't do this—you can't turn me down this way, when you know that I love you—I adore you—worship you. Adele, I'd do anything for you. Only tell me that you didn't mean what you just said."

"Harry, let me go—you're hurting me," she spoke angrily, loosening her hands from his grasp. "I'm sorry," he said humbly. "I didn't mean to."

"Well, you did, just the same." She rubbed her wrists where they showed red from his fingerprints. "And I do mean exactly what I said. I don't really want to hurt you, Harry. That's why I'm telling you this now—instead of later."

No—no, I didn't want to hurt him, she cried to herself. I didn't—and it is best. "Don't you understand that this would have come sooner or later? And now, while everything is still young and fresh and lovely, it's best to end the whole affair."

"Adele! You're not telling me the truth. There's some one else—some one who's taken my place. Is that true, Adele?" Harry was pleading, the tears welling up in his eyes.

"Perhaps—perhaps not," Adele cried to herself. "But it doesn't matter. Harry, whether or not there is anyone else. The fact remains that I'm tired of playing this little game with you. For that's what it has been—a game. And I'm used to controlling my own life, so that when I say that I'm tired—I am tired."

"But Adele, I came all the way from Brookton, just to find you. I'm perfectly serious," Adele turned sharply away and looked into the fire. "Don't you understand that I have my work—and it comes first—before everything else. After that—love, if one can call it that, has been a game. And I'm used to controlling my own life, so that when I say that I'm tired—I am tired."

"Playing with you—my dear boy, I'm perfectly serious," Adele turned sharply away and looked into the fire. "Don't you understand that I have my work—and it comes first—before everything else. After that—love, if one can call it that, has been a game. And I'm used to controlling my own life, so that when I say that I'm tired—I am tired."

"Adele, I can't understand why you're sending me off this way. Can't you give me some explanation?" Harry could not comprehend Adele's meaning. For he saw only the woman who had loved him like a scarlet flame against the white of the mantelpiece. "I thought you were interested in me—in my work—in what I wanted to do, if nothing else."

"Your work!" Adele smiled lightly. "Harry, the best thing I can tell you is that you'll never write. You haven't got it in you. But you were entertaining for a change, and that was all. I can't say anything more than that. I liked you, Harry, but it's only a waste of time to go on and on, talking about it."

Harry slumped down on the lounge, his head in his hands. Adele had delivered the final blow, so he thought, when she told him so heartlessly that his work was negligible and that she had merely been amused for the time being. He looked so disconsolate, so pitiful, that the actress was tempted to comfort him. She stretched out her arms, but as quickly let them fall to her sides. She must go on playing the game—play it with a smile, when it was almost breaking her heart. She turned her back and stared into the fireplace, her eyes hot and dry.

"Adele," Harry called to her across the room. "Is there nothing I can do—nothing that will change you?" He got up and walked towards her. "Don't you see I can't let you go like this. You mean too much to me. If you'll only just see me now and then—I promise I won't bother you—I won't intrude."

"No, Harry," Adele shook her head. "I've told you it's all over. There is never any recapturing of any kind of happiness. It must come spontaneously, and the wisest man is the one who knows when to pluck it in its full bloom and destroy the blossom before it fades into withered grayness. Never liked dried lavender."

SANTA FE EDICT STIRS BOATMEN

Scores of boat house owners, fishermen and others along Cutting boulevard on what is known as the yacht harbor, are today casting about for new locations in the face of an edict from the Santa Fe company ordering them to vacate the premises within a month.

The property recently was purchased by the railroad company for development purposes. Notices to vacate were contained in a letter from Platt Kent, San Francisco attorney for the Santa Fe. The company will extend a spur track along Cutting boulevard to tap new and prospective industries in that section.

In most cases the boat owners are planning to move their craft to San Rafael.

Widow Of Late Standard Chief Laid To Rest

Last rites for Mrs. Hanna S. Rheem, widow of the late Colonel William S. Rheem, once manager of the Richmond refinery of the Standard Oil company, were held yesterday in Oakland. Mrs. Rheem died at her home, 478 Thirtieth street, Oakland, last Tuesday following a short illness.

She was a native of Pennsylvania, coming to California when her husband was named superintendent of the old Pacific Coast Oil company in 1900. Colonel Rheem died in 1919, leaving an estate of $1,000,000, most of which went to his widow.

Mrs. Rheem is survived by three sons, William, Donald and Richard, the latter two being officials of the Rheem Galvanizing company and the Rheem Manufacturing company, Oakland; a sister, Mrs. Edith L. Smith and a brother, Earl C. Stratton.

Tanned Legs Are Barred At College

(By Universal Service)
SAN DIEGO, April 20.—Shapely legs clothed only in a rich brown coat of tan may be the vogue at Deauville, but they're taboo at the State Teachers' College here—that is, exposure of the bare skin is taboo, tanned or "just naked," no ukase having been issued yet as to the mere possession of legs, shapely or otherwise.

Two sweet young things spent a lot of time at the beaches and went through a bit of agony from sunburn to acquire tan stockings as natural. When they appeared at college today proudly displaying the nether extremities in the altogether, the word was quietly passed to them that the dean of women would no countenance such undress.

Raps Report On Unemployment

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Senator Wagner, Democrat of New York, again today disputed the administration's contention that there are not more than 2,000,000 unemployed in the United States. He placed the figure at nearer 4,000,000, and accused Secretary of Labor Davis, either of deliberately or inadvertently misreading the unemployment report submitted to him by Ethelbert Stewart, commissioner of labor statistics.

He criticized the administration "calm complacency in the face of an unemployment situation that threatens the safety of the country."

Senators Fail To Pay For Food

WASHINGTON (D. C.) April 19.—One of the things that Senator Curtis of Kansas is particularly proud of is his record in charge of the Senate restaurant. Its prices are reasonable, on the Washington scale. The food is excellent. The service is good.

The restaurant used to run $40,000 to $50,000 in the hole every year. Now it is breaking even and has been several years, since it came under the immediate control of Senator Curtis.

If it were not for a few senators, Curtis confides, sadly to his friends, it would make a slight profit every year. But every year some senators leave and forget to pay their bills.

Bank Restrained From Expansion

SANTA ANA, April 19.—The temporary injunction issued last Wednesday by Judge James L. Allen of the Superior Court here restraining the United Security Bank & Trust company of San Francisco from further expansion under its present name was today automatically continued in force until April 30.

At their request the hearing as to whether the injunction should be continued until the suit brought by the Los Angeles bank to permanently enjoin the San Francisco bank from the use of

ACORNS LOSE WILD CONTEST BY 19-8 COUNT

In as wild a contest as ever took place in coast league history, Nick Williams' San Francisco Seals bombarded their way to a 19 to 8 victory over Del Howard's Oakland Acorns at Recreation Park yesterday. The contest, if it can be called one, was replete with everything from continual exchange of persiflage which resulted in several banishments from the game, to consistent hard hitting which probably resulted in the Seals setting a record for base hits with 20 to their credit.

San Francisco used up five hurlers, while Del Howard sent in six in an unsuccessful attempt to stem the vicious assault of the transbay club. Up to the sixth inning it was a fair ball game, with the Acorns enjoying a 5 to 4 lead, but the hit blew off after that, the league leaders opening an attack that completely routed the eastbay team. The Oaks managed to get 13 hits, four of which were good for four bases, the 20 safe hits by the Seals included three circuit clouts.

Yesterday's game gives the Williams outfit a three to one lead on the current series.

School nurse says all girls should know this

TALKING to a roomful of high school girls on personal hygiene, an experienced district nurse said: "One of the basic rules of health for girls is to keep the system functioning naturally at all times. Normal exercise and diet habits should be encouraged. But when necessary there's no harm in taking nujol, since it works mechanically and can't disturb the normal functions of any organ of the body. Particularly with girls, there are times when nujol should always be taken. Take a spoonful every night for a few days. It's a thoroughly safe and harmless method. It won't cause distress or gas pains or griping."

Nujol is different from any other substance. It contains no drugs or medicine. It can be taken safely no matter how you are feeling because it is so pure and harmless and works so easily. Every woman should keep a bottle on hand. Every druggist has this remarkable substance. Get the genuine.

RICHMOND WILL GREET CARAVAN ON WEDNESDAY

Every Richmond motorist is urged to join this caravan in its trip through the city. Women folks are extended a special invitation.

C. C. Kratzer of the Buick auto agency has donated several new cars for the occasion.

Richmond folk are invited to join the caravan and accompany it as far as they wish in the trip north, as far as Vancouver if they can spare the time.

The caravan route through Richmond as determined by the committee yesterday follows: "Pick up the caravan at the county line with escort of Richmond motor police, thence north on San Pablo avenue to Macdonald avenue, thence west on Macdonald to Sixth street, thence south to Bissell to Tenth, north on Tenth to Roosevelt, thence east to Twenty-third street and thence

Life Sentence For Communist In China Row

(By Universal Service) SINGAPORE, April 20. Sent to Singapore "by the Communist party in China to bring light to the laboring classes of Malaya" Cheong Yokai has been sentenced to life imprisonment here as a result of his activities.

Cheong shot Dr. Lim Boon-keng and attempted to shoot Dr. Wu, the former foreign minister of Nanking. He told the court that the Chinese Communist leaders had instructed him to kill the National delegation, of which Dr. Wu is head.

The Chinese Communist gunman admitted the powers and influence of the Communist party had been greatly reduced of late.

The sentencing of Cheong to life imprisonment is only one phase of the government's campaign to suppress Communist disorders in the Straits Settlements. Charged with being in possession of a printing plant and Communist literature, four other Chinese agitators have been arrested. They were working as servants for a European official.

Sunshine Camp Aiding Children

That's the name that has been coined to designate the children who are receiving treatment in Sunshine Camp, Contra Costa county's health camp in Marsh Creek Canyon for undernourished youngsters.

Holding that inmate and ward does not properly designate the children and does not afford distinction to the service that is being rendered the new name was coined by T. B. Swift, treasurer of the Contra Costa Public Health Association, sponsor organization for the camp, and Miss Rachel Miller, county school nurse.

The camp, Miss Miller announced has twenty "Sunshiners" on its roll and quite a waiting list.

Great Electric Combine Visions Immense Orders

(By Universal Service)

LONDON, April 20.—Orders estimated to total $1,250,000,000 are expected to be placed during the next twelve years by the Central Electricity Board.

This expectation accounts for the interest now being taken by various American financial groups in the British electrical industry. British manufacturers realize that to combat this American "penetration" and to prevent a large share of the profits from these and other important contracts going abroad a fusion of interests is necessary.

At the recent meeting of the Metropolitan Vickers Electrical company, Ltd., the chairman, Sir Philip Nash, referred to the fact that control of the company, previously in the hands of the Vickers, Ltd., had been secured by Mr. F. Dudley Docker, who, it is known, holds strong views on the necessity for co-operation between British manufacturers. Negotiations which may lead to the formation of a great electrical combine have, it is believed, already begun.

F. Dudley Docker was concerned in the reorganization of Vickers, Ltd., and is a director of a number of important companies, including the Southern Railway, the Metropolitan Railway, and the Midland bank. He is also a member of the council of the Federation of British Industries.

Canadian Senate Agrees To Union With Newfoundland

(By Universal Service)

OTTAWA, Ont., April 20.—Newfoundland, oldest of British possessions, may yet become a part of Canada. The Senate at Ottawa has just unanimously decided that the Dominion should consider in a friendly-spirit proposals for union with Newfoundland.

For sentimental reasons the Dominion as a whole would warmly welcome the acquisition of the Island Colony to the Canadian Confederation. In the last year commercial interests have added to the desire for union. When the Privy council awarded to Newfoundland a huge area in Ungava which had previously been considered part of Quebec, it again aroused the question of union which had not been raised since 1899.

The Ungava area is rich in timber, pulp and power resources. Its position makes development by Canada easier than development by the island. Twenty years ago when the dispute first arose it could have been purchased by the Dominion for $1,000,000; last year the government spent more than that amount in legal cost in a losing argument.

Maritime complaint against the efforts of Confederation have heretofore prevented serious consideration of union with Canada. Of the part of Newfoundlanders, if the maritime provinces were not satisfied, why should the island take a chance, it was argued. Now that there is a definite improvement in maritime conditions, the union project is being revived by both. A Newfoundland delegation was present at the Quebec conference out of which the Canadian confederation grew and two Newfoundlanders are included in the Canadian Fathers of Confederation. The government refused to implement the agreement which its representatives had indorsed. Four years later, in 1869, another Newfoundland delegation came to Ottawa and agreed on terms of union, but the government which ratified the agreement was immediately defeated at the polls.

In 1895 a serious financial crisis on the island led to another delegation coming to Ottawa. At that time Newfoundland's total debt was $16,000,000. Canada would only take over $10,000,000 so the parleys fell through for what would now be termed a paltry $6,000,000.

Senator Dandurand, who led the debate in the Senate, stated that conditions were now more favorable to union than ever before. Union would benefit Newfoundland commercially, he claimed. Development on the island was very slow, nor was there any rapid increase in population, the total being but 255,000.
